demonsanddogweeds asked:. A silly question, but here goes; Why is a concave stomach a sign of being in shape for dogs, but in wolves a bad thing. Is this purely a question of food availability, or is there some physiological difference there? Little known to the public at large. Little understood by the health community. Omnipresent in our conventional food culture. Proven to be at least mildly detrimental for everyone and downright destructive for the more sensitive (and often unsuspecting) among us. We're talking lectins today ...I understand where you are coming from with the nausea. I feel bad when I get up in the morning (after only a few hours sleep). I think I feel bad because I need to eat, but when I do, I have a lot of nausea.I decided to try something new. Let me know what you think and if you would be interested in more male resuscitation? Enjoy! Bryan is a 250 pound 30 year old man who has never cared about his overall weight and worked at the local McDonald's.
