

Download Intellectual Property Law For Engineers And Scientists

Intellectual property (IP) is a category of property that includes intangible creations of the human intellect. Intellectual property encompasses two types of rights; industrial property rights (trademarks, patents, designations of origin, industrial designs and models) and copyright. It was not until the 19th century that the term "intellectual property" began to be used, and not until the ...Intellectual property (IP) protection is critical for protecting a company's proprietary designs, processes, and inventions. Top IP issues affecting engineers are failing to seek patent protection for new innovations and publicly disclosing new inventions before applying for a patent—both of which could render an invention worthless. Kinney & Lange attorneys is a full-service IP law firm for intellectual property law, including patents, trademarks, copyrights, licensing, litigation. The Patent Office was established by the Patents Law Amendment Act 1852 and opened on 1 October that year. Patents had been awarded prior to this date – indeed Britain has a continuous history of patent regulation dating back at least as far as the fifteenth century; however, by the mid-nineteenth century the process of application had become extremely complicated.