Philanthropist Children 3 Michael James Holmes (born August 3, 1963) is a Canadian builder/contractor, businessman, investor, television host, and philanthropist. Beginning with Holmes on Homes ...My dad taught me that if you're going to do something, do it right the first time around. I always recommend hiring a pro for big jobs, but it's also important to have some tools at home to tackle smaller maintenance jobs. Don't overwhelm yourself with tools you may never use or that are unsafe for you to use - be practical and stick to the basics!A properly finished basement can add value to your home. It also becomes extra livable space – a place for the kids to play, or a favourite space for adults to hang out (that sought-after man cave you've always dreamed about!). Spend your basement renovation dollars wisely by making it right the first time. Once ...
